DR. MIA SETTLES-TIDWELL

CEO/President
Set-Up for Success Consulting

Author
Unscathed: A Harm Reduction Strategy for Women of Color in the Workplace

Dr. Mia Settles-Tidwell is an alumnus of both UC Berkeley and CSU East Bay. With over 30 years of educational experience, she served in multiple executive roles as a vice president, university diversity officer, assistant vice chancellor, chief of staff, and chief operating officer in both the UC and CSU higher education systems, as well as the TK-12.

Her unique skills of masterfully coaching individuals and organizations in real-time through workplace dilemmas, building strong and productive teams, and alchemizing sustainable frameworks for transformative impact is like no other. She helps clients seamlessly embed, apply, and bring to scale innovative and equity-infused strategies into their daily practice.

Dr. Mia is a writer for justice, curator of the term, "At the Table Activism" and the author of the International Impact Book Award winning book, Unscathed: a harm reduction strategy for women of color in the workplace and other articles, book chapters, and campus messages for social justice. She is an accomplished and nationally sought after executive coach, thought-leader, adjunct professor, speaker, and organizational health consultant.
